

ARCHBISHOP HANNA IS SAID TO SUCCEED CARDINAL GIBBONS

Bishop Shahan and Monsignor Pace in Line Of Promotion.

BALTIMORE, April 23.—Previous speculation as to the probable successor of the late James Cardinal Gibbons was upset here today when it became generally intimated among the local and Washington Catholic clergy that Archbishop Edward J. Hanna, of San Francisco, had been tentatively stated to head the American hierarchy.

Simultaneously it was said that Bishop Thomas J. Shahan, rector of the Catholic University, would eventually be given charge of the San Francisco archdiocese. Several dignitaries of the Baltimore archdiocese were advised of the program, which calls for the elevation of Monsignor Edward J. Pace, dean of the school of philosophy at the Catholic University, to the office now occupied by Bishop Shahan.

Was Emancipated at Rome. Archbishop Hanna while at the American College at Rome attained eminence in scholastic circles. He is regarded as the nearest prototype in the American clergy of the late Cardinal. The time of the execution of the hierarchy changes were not indicated. It is believed, however, that they will materialize within two months. Dennis Cardinal Dougherty, of Philadelphia, had been prominently named for the Baltimore see, as had Archbishop Glennon of St. Louis.

Archbishop Hanna is one of the most widely known clergymen on the Pacific Coast. He was nominated coadjutor archbishop of San Francisco in 1907, but failed to receive the confirmation of Rome on account of charge of modernism. The charge was disproved and dropped. He received the appointment of auxiliary bishop of San Francisco in 1912 from Pope Pius and in the same year was consecrated bishop of Toluca. In 1915 he was appointed archbishop of San Francisco. He is active in civil affairs of California and served as commissioner of immigration of the State. He is 61 years old, a native of Rochester, N. Y.

No Confirmation Here. Bishop Shahan could not be reached last night but colleagues declared local Catholic circles here have not been advised of the appointment.

The bishop came to Washington in 1920, serving as professor at the Catholic University until 1920, when he was designated by the Holy See as rector of that institution.

SAYS U. S. OFFICER CAUSES FRICTION

Dr. A. G. Bell, Incensed at Treatment, Makes Complaint.

Incensed over treatment by a United States immigration officer who was responsible for his wife and his secretary, Miss Miss Catherine Mackenzie and himself spending Tuesday night in the immigration detention building in Washington, Maine, Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, arrived here yesterday to make a complaint to the State Department.

Dr. Bell said he had decided to take the matter up with the State Department because he felt international unfriendliness was being developed by the methods of the immigration officials with whom he had the encounter. It is likely he will make a complaint to the Department of Labor also.

Dr. Bell's secretary is a Canadian. The detention order was issued against her only, and according to the scientist, was animated by animosity on the part of the immigration agent. When protests were unavailing, Dr. and Mrs. Bell voluntarily left the train and spent the night with Miss Mackenzie in the Vancouver detention house. Next morning they returned to St. John, Washington authorities had been appealed to, and the difficulty was quickly adjusted. The party then resumed its journey, arriving in Washington Friday.

Dr. Bell said he had been told by many Canadians that the actions of the American immigration inspectors were helping to create an unfriendly feeling on the border, and that he thought the State Department should know this. Miss Mackenzie's difficulty, he said, grew out of an encounter with an immigration inspector when he threatened to "let her" if she came back.

Other speakers were Rear Admiral W. G. Bullard, Rear Admiral J. N. Hemphill, Representative John M. Evans, of Montana, and Representative Joseph Walsh, of Massachusetts. H. C. H. Stewart was toastmaster.

Red Cross in Appeal For Children's Clothes

An appeal to American women for 2,000,000 garments to aid the Red Cross in saving the lives of thousands of European children has been received by Robert E. Olds, American Red Cross Commissioner to Europe. "We have urgent need of these garments," asserted Mr. Olds in a message just received at national headquarters of the Red Cross. "I therefore appeal to women in Red Cross chapters in America to stimulate the public mind as to the utmost of their ability. Never has need been greater than it is today. Paris headquarters receives continual requests from American workers in the field asking for more children's clothing. These workers know the need for they have it always before them."

Army Air Service Misses Warship In Bomb Practice

The navy won the first skirmish from the army air service in the controversy over the efficacy of airplanes in naval warfare, it was learned here last night.

Not a single hit was scored by more than a score of army air fliers out of the several hundred dummy, and real bombs aimed at the battered old Nevada, stuck in the mud off Hampton Roads. On Tuesday, Thursday of this week, army air fliers decided to use the old ship for practice purposes, in preparation for the bombing of a warship in the near future. Twenty-five planes over the old vessel several times. While dummy bombs only were to be used, some real bombs were dropped from the planes. It was learned. Not a single hit was registered, naval officers exultantly stated.

Naval officers pointed out that if the fliers could not hit a stationary target, they will have less chance of scoring on the Iowa, another battleship, which has been designated for the "attack" by the army air service off the Virginia capes next week in the presence of President Harding and the Atlantic fleet.

CHILDREN'S RELIEF FUND IS GROWING

District Contributed $186,000 For Europe's Little Ones.

Figures of the national collection of the European Relief Council for relief of children of Europe, which closed on April 1, show that the District contributed $186,000 of the $23,000,000 received in cash and pledges to aid the needy and starving youngsters across the sea.

The total amount of money raised, or definitely in sight from the several State committees, is $13,196,000. In addition to this, it is believed that approximately $500,000 more will be added to the fund from State treasuries, making a total of $13,700,000. Besides the latter, the national collection has been credited with the following sums derived directly from their constituent supporters and allocated to Children's Relief Work in Europe as part of the entire operation: $5,000,000 from the Red Cross; $2,200,000 from the Jewish Joint Distribution Committee; and $2,100,000 from the American Relief Administration. These additions make the total of cash received or definite pledges, $23,500,000. If the probable collections of $500,000 from the States is added to this, the collection will total approximately $23,000,000.

On account of the decrease in the price of food commodities since the original estimate of needs in Europe was made, the realization of this sum of $23,000,000 from the national collection insures the carrying out of the complete children's relief programs in Europe of the distributing members of the European Relief Council.

NEGRO IS ARRESTED ON MURDER CHARGE

Catch Last of Three Said to Be Implicated in Killing.

Rufus Gordon, colored, charged to be implicated in the murder of Simon Miller, who was shot while investigating a robbery in his grocery store at 1601 Lamont street northwest, at 10:45 p. m. September 12, 1919, was arrested at Atlantic City and brought to Washington yesterday afternoon. He was committed to jail to await action of the grand jury.

Rufus Gordon is the last of the trio charged with the murder. The others, Roy Gordon, his brother, and Aloysius Chase, were arrested two months ago and were indicted by the grand jury.

Police claim that Rufus Gordon entered the grocery store while the others kept watch on the outside. They claim that Miller was ordered to throw up his hands and that as he reached below the counter for his gun, Gordon shot him. Miller died before reaching Emergency Hospital. When Miller fell the prospective thieves became scared and fled.

HOWARD APPEALS FOR D. C. CLINIC

Public health work in the District will be curtailed unless Congress answers the appeal of Dr. William C. Fowler, health officer, for a deficiency appropriation of $500 to keep the clinic open. However, every effort will be striven to carry out even though the program must be curtailed if the appropriation is not granted.

According to Dr. W. D. Tewksbury, one of the attendant physicians at the clinic, the closing would create a deplorable situation in the District. Washington has had a public health clinic for the past fifteen years. Until the government opened the clinic two years ago, a clinic was maintained by the Associated Charities.

Cases at the tuberculosis division of the clinic average about forty a day, while the average at the other division is a little higher.

From scores of pulpits, the pastors of Washington will tell today the story of the instructive visiting nurses at services. Congregations will be urged to contribute generously to the support of the organization which works continuously throughout the year protecting the health of the people of Washington.

Know No Race, Creed or Color. As instructive visiting nurses know no race, creed, color or nationality in their bedside nursing, maternity service and other work in all parts of the city, the appeal for funds is being made to all classes of people in the District without regard to race, creed, color or nationality.

A feature of the opening of the campaign will be the appearance at the baseball game at American League Ball Park this afternoon of a group of women, headed by Mrs. Eldridge Jordan, who will sell tags and balloons bearing the initials "I. V. N. S."

The city has been placarded with visiting nurse and a woman sick in bed, with an appeal to help the $50,000 fund by sending your contribution to the treasurer, Col. Reginald S. Hulse, care of the Instructive Visiting Nurse Society, 1413 G street northwest.

The Howard Theater was donated yesterday by Andrew Thomas, through arrangement by Mrs. Arthur Curtis and Mrs. A. B. McKinnel, two of Mrs. Terrell's aides. Mrs. Sevelon Savoy, through the Junior Matrons' Club, has arranged a dance, the proceeds to go to the visiting nurses.
